La Cruz

The tenth canton of Guanacaste, La Cruz was constituted in 1969. Approximately 70% of its economically active population works in stockbreeding, agriculture and fishing. Its greater development owes it's thanks to the opening of the Pan-American Highway. The southeast limit is conformed by the dividing line of the Volcanic Mountain Range of Guanacaste, where the Orosí Volcano is located.

La Cruz offers public and private services, such as health and educational establishments. This frontier canton is located by what is known as the Window of the Cross, since you can find the most marvelous and impressive sunsets and views of the Pacific Ocean.

The National Park "Santa Rosa" constitutes the major tourist attraction, where the large house of "Santa Rosa" is located. This house, preserved from the 19th century, is a historic Costa Rican monument, where the Santa Rosa battle took place. The beaches in "La Cruz" are marvelous. The most visited ones are: Cuajiniquil, Bahia Salinas and Manzanillo.
